Fund Commentary

Major global central banks have reasserted their core mandate of price stability. The US Fed, which has paused its policy rate at 5.125% in June, prepared the market for another 50bps during 2H23 with a hawkish tone. The Bank of England and European Central Bank have hiked their policy rates by 50bps and 25bps respectively. Locally, Bank of Namibia has followed the South African Reserve Bank with a 50bps hike to 7.75%, maintaining the 50bps lag vs South Africa (8.25%). Forward Rate Agreement pricing start to reflect that bond market participants expect higher rates for longer and for the easing cycle to be moved back further. Namibian NCDs (supported by large excess banking liquidity) and Treasury-Bill rates remained constant throughout June. The South African Jibar rate bull-flattened, with 12-month Jibar strengthening by 40bps to 9.60% on the back of economic indicators (CPI, GDP) beating expectations and strengthening in-line with the bond yield curve.

Given current reinvestment rates, we expect the fund yield to gradually increase throughout the second half of 2023

Collective Investment Schemes in Securities (unit trusts) are generally medium to long term investments. The value of participatory interests (units) may go down as well as up and past performance is not necessarily a guide to the future. Unit Trust prices are calculated on a net asset value basis, which is the total capital value invested including any income accrual and less any permissible deductions from the portfolio divided by the number of units in issue. Income accruals are made daily and paid out monthly. Purchase and repurchase requests may be received by the manager by 10h00 each business day. Permissible deductions may include management fees, brokerage, NAMFISA levies, auditor's fees, bank charges, trustee fees and RSC levies. A schedule of fees and charges is available on request from Ashburton Unit Trust Management Company. Commission and incentives may be paid and if so, would be included in the overall costs.
