Collective Investment Schemes in Securities (unit trusts) are generally medium to long term investments. The value of participatory interests (units) may go down as well as up and past performance is not necessarily a guide to the future. Unit Trust prices are calculated on a net asset value basis, which is the total capital value invested including any income accrual and less any permissible deductions from the portfolio divided by the number of units in issue. Income accruals are made daily and paid out monthly. Purchase and repurchase requests may be received by the manager by 10h00 each business day. Permissible deductions may include management fees, brokerage, NAMFISA levies, auditor's fees, bank charges, trustee fees and RSC levies. A schedule of fees and charges is available on request from Ashburton Unit Trust Management Company. Commission and incentives may be paid and if so, would be included in the overall costs. The FNB Namibia Money Market Fund is managed by Ashburton Unit Trust Management Company Ltd (89/485), a NAMFISA registered (25/9/5/3) Unit Trust Management Company.

Fund Commentary

Global and local inflation is gradually easing but expected to remain elevated over the medium- to long-term, thus placing pressure on policy makers to remain hawkish. Namibia inflation for April surprised to the downside, coming in at 6.1% year-on-year (y/y) which was lower compared to the March print of 7.2% y/y. This was the lowest annual CPI released since the June 2022 print of 6.0% y/y. South Africa's inflation remains stubborn as the economy continues with challenges like higher cost of doing business in SA and the depreciation of the currency.

The Bank of Namibia increased the repo rate by 25bps to 7.25%, lagging the SA repo rate by 50bps. Given the interest rate differential, all the Namibian T-Bills traded below their SA counterparts. April saw the 12-month SA T-Bill breaching the 9.0% level, 102bps higher than the Namibian counterpart.

Given the fund's current SA exposure, the fund will continue to take advantage of any higher yielding opportunities in the market.
