Fund Commentary

Contrary to the fourth quarter of 2022, global and local inflation prints for January presented themselves sticky on down. US annual headline inflation came in a 6.4% versus a market expectation of 6.2%. Higher for longer global inflation and resulting more expected rate hikes weighed on bond and equity returns, reversing the January gains. Locally, the Rand lost 5.5% versus the greenback attributed to the Eskom crisis and FATF grey listing.

The Namibian commercial bank NCD curve moved up slightly, while longer tenor Treasury-Bills compressed significantly by 25-30bps. In South Africa we witnessed significant money market curve steepening, with 12-month Jibar increasing by 32bps to 8.83%, now yielding 4bps more than its Namibian counterpart.

Given the current reinvestment rates and the fund's maturity profile, we expect the yield to continuously pickup right into 3Q23.

Collective Investment Schemes in Securities (Unit Trusts) are generally medium to long term investments. The value of participatory interests (units) may go down as well as up and past performance is not necessarily a guide to the future. Unit Trust prices are calculated on a net asset value basis, which is the total capital value invested including any income accrual and less any permissible deductions from the portfolio divided by the number of units in issue. Income accruals are made daily and paid out monthly. Purchase and repurchase requests may be received by the manager by 10h00 each business day. Permissible deductions may include management fees, brokerage, NAMFISA levies, auditor's fees, bank charges, trustee fees and RSC levies. A schedule of fees and charges is available on request from Ashburton Unit Trust Management Company. Commission and incentives may be paid and if so, would be included in the overall costs.
